RiverRock launches LinkedTrade, the most advanced independent Structured Products multi-dealer platform in Europe

RiverRock is delighted to announce the launch of its digital Structured Products multi-dealer platform LinkedTrade, developed by its FinTech arm, RiverRock Technology Solutions.

LinkedTrade leads the way in the digital transformation of the structured products industry using the latest technology to outperform traditional services and provide immediate responses to clients' needs.

LinkedTrade is a SaaS platform which enables Private Banks and Asset Managers to provide their clients with cutting-edge tools and ground-breaking solutions in designing and trading bespoke structured products.

LinkedTrade is easy to use, fast, highly scalable and can easily be connected and integrated with any in-house systems. It is adaptable and makes structured products accessible in any investment portfolios.

“New opportunities provided by artificial intelligence highlight the need to implement such solutions within our industry. We strongly believe in our ability to help our clients invest in structured products in a brand-new way through our digital platform LinkedTrade” commented Nicolas Gaumont-Prat, Managing Director.

“We also provide our clients with personalised tools for suitability assessment, price comparison and lifecycle monitoring” commented Mikael Mallion, Managing Director.

Speaking about the importance of the digital transformation, Michel Péretié, CEO of RiverRock European Capital Partners LLP, said: “We are absolutely delighted with the launch of LinkedTrade, as part of our strategy to embrace digital solutions in the development of our businesses”
